

WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

“Everybody’s doing a brand new dance, now…” and they’re also using writing across the curriculum to reinforce writing skills and skills in every subject, from mitochondria to music, from PE to pre-algebra. The North Carolina Department of Public Education has some good ideas on this (and is now requiring writing across the curriculum at a high school level).

You can contact them or the North Carolina Arts Council to find writers who are great at introducing teachers, parents, and children to practical, hands-on techniques for writing across the curriculum.

Download the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction manual on Writing Across the Curriculum at www.ncpublicschools.org